

ENGAGEMENT OF A TONOPAH MAN TOLD

MRS. ARTHUR RODGERS ANNOUNCES BETROTHAL OF HER DAUGHTER TO J. H. EVANS

Mrs. Arthur Rodgers announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Millie Lucille Rodgers, to J. H. Evans, of Tonopah. The marriage will take place the last week in May, according to the San Francisco Examiner, which adds:

"Miss Rodgers is the daughter of the late Arthur Rodgers, a well-known attorney and for years the law partner of Judge Chas. S. Slack. Miss Rodgers has been making her home at the Fairmont Hotel with her mother for several years. She is well known in society and has a host of friends in many circles. Mr. Evans, who is a lawyer who often comes here on visits, will arrive today and several parties are planned for the engaged couple during his stay. "In honor of the arrival of Mr. Evans, a dinner-dance party is to be given in honor of the engaged couple this evening. Miss Rodgers recently had a handsome portrait done by Pizella, the Italian artist, who is a resident here."

THE VENGEANCE OF CRIPPLE CREEK

Oh, they do strange things in the far-off west
And strange are things that they speak;
But the strangest thing, and I think the best,
Was the vengeance of Cripple Creek.

A magazine back in the rapid east,
On the trail of slander and smut,
Sent a feature writer to make a feast,
Its ravenous stomach to glut.

He came, but he did not visit the mayor,
Nor summon the editors in
But he lied himself down to the thoroughfare
Where they gather the wage of sin.

And there he encountered a habitue,
'Twas the only one that he met—
Who gave him a beautiful interview,
Whom he promised he'd never forget.

For an hour she strung him, more or less
And he scribbled down all that she spoke—
They had ginned him up at the Springs, I guess,
For he never savvied a joke.

But he sent stuff to a slimy sheet,
Far away in the rapid east,
And the vulture editor found it meat

TUNGSTEN TITLE IN THE COURTS

INVOLVES TITLE TO INTEREST IN RAGGED TOP PROPERTY IN HUMBOLDT COUNTY

The case of Joseph Mackdon versus L. E. Beeson et al is on trial in the District Court before Judge Ducker and a jury. Plaintiff is represented by Salter & Robins and L. G. Campbell, and defendants by H. J. Murrish and Callahan & Brandon.

In his complaint plaintiff sets out that he is the owner of an undivided one-fourth interest in valuable tungsten claims at Ragged Top mountain, near Lovelock, and that in April of last year he gave defendant Beeson a power of attorney to sell his interest in the property; that Beeson shortly afterwards sold the claims to the H. M. Byllesby company for $250,000, on installments; the money to be deposited to his credit in the First National Bank of Lovelock; that installments of $10,000 have been paid, but that the bank, action upon instructions from Beeson, has only credited plaintiff with one-sixth of the amount received instead of the one-fourth to which he claims to be entitled. The suit is brought to recover the one-twelfth interest in the entire property retained by Beeson.—Humboldt Star.

Advertise in the Bonanza.

And drink for a delicate feast.

And published it broadcast throughout the land,

To be read by the old and the young.

How the devilish libel stung.

"We're very sorry," the editor said,

"Though there's nothing to do, you see."

But a smart man got a scheme in his head,

And the whole city howled with glee.

For the city fathers met then and there

And they forged a revenge complete.

For they changed the name of that thoroughfare,

And they called it "Julian street."

Oh, they do strange things in the far-off west,

And strange are things that they speak;

But the strangest of all, and I think the best,

Was the vengeance of Cripple Creek.

GUARDSMEN AND CITIZENS OF WASHINGTON RAID LILY WHITE HEADQUARTERS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 3.—National guardsmen of the Third District of Columbia Infantry, backed by a party of citizens, covered the front of the headquarters of the emergency peace federation with a coat of yellow paint, while another party of citizens destroyed pacifist banners and the literature inside.

LAND VALUES CLIMBING ON THE LAHONTAN

When people are looking for land they very naturally weigh carefully the future possibilities, which means the value of the land as a producer of crops that can be turned into money. The value of lands on the Truckee-Carson project are gradually advancing. Take for example a farm of 138 acres in the Fernley district which recently sold for $22,000. Frequent mention has been made of similar sales in that locality, as well as in other parts of the project, all of which proves that the owner of a well-developed farm unit on this project is a fortunate man.
